

Dear all HKACC members,

The Fanny Li Youth Flying Scholarships Hong Kong

Do you want to become a pilot?

The Fanny Li Youth Flying Scholarship by GAPAN is now open for application.

In the past few years, all the scholars of this flying scholarship has been awarded to our HKACC members and most of the scholars are now serving as an airline pilots in Hong Kong. As this scholarship offers all the fees for everything from your return air tickets to/from Scotland, accomodation, daily food expenses, flying training fees, books, learning equipment, etc, etc.. , you don't have to pay for anything to achieve your private pilot licence and an superb experience to stay in Dundee, Scotland for this coming summer 2011. (approx. 4-8 weeks depends on your flying progress.)

The aim of this scholarship is to promote aviation in Hong Kong and create potential candidates to serve the aviation industry in Hong Kong. If you have a dream to become a pilot in Hong Kong, please don't miss this GOLDEN opportunity.

The Selection:

1. The initial interview will be held in mid Feb 2011 (after the chinese new year). There will be three interviewers for this initial interview, Captain Lam Tin Yun of GAPAN, myself and a representative from Boy Scott. This scholarship is no longer open to HKACC members only but also to the general public in Hong Kong.
2. The second stage will be an aptitude test conducted at either Dragon air / Cathay Pacific, this aptitude test is exactly the same test for cadet pilot screening.
3. The final stage is another interview with the GAPAN officials.

4. The actual Flying in Scotland will commence during your summer holiday 2011.

If you are aged above 16, you are eligible for this flying scholarship. Deadline for this scholarship application is on or before 31 Jan 2011.

The Fanny Li Youth Flying Scholarships Hong Kong

The Hong Kong Region of The Guild of Air Pilots and Air Navigators (GAPAN) has made available two flying scholarships to the youth of Hong Kong since the year 2003. All previous winners have been members of Hong Kong Air Cadet Corps (HKACC), however, the scholarships are open to all youngsters in HK who meet the basic requirements and all youngsters in Hong Kong, aged 16 or over who are interested in aviation as a future career are urged to apply.

Scholarship winners need to be old enough to hold a Student Pilots Licence so must be at least 16 years old to commence their training. Currently, scholarship winners are sent to an internationally renowned flying school in Tayside, Scotland; Tayside Aviation. The scholarship includes all relevant expenses including: round trip air tickets, accommodation, food, training costs, all equipment required, reference books and examination fees. Flying training offered by the scholarship is a fixed amount of flying (currently 46 hours) that should result in attaining basic flying proficiency, going solo and passing of the UK PPL (you must be 17 to undertake final tests for the PPL). After acquiring the PPL, mentoring by senior airline pilots is available so that by the end of their tertiary education they will be ready for professional pilot training and pursue a career in the local aviation industry.
